DUNSTABLE TOWN CLERK

• Initiative petitions have begun to circulate for signatures.

These are 14 petitions approved by the Attorney General and 1 court ordered to be placed on the November 8, 2022 state ballot if they secure the required number of signatures.

• The amendments to the Town of Dunstable Zoning Bylaws adopted under the warrant for the May 15, 2021 were approved by the Attorney General on August 30, 2021; and are hereby published by posting in accordance with Massachusetts General Laws, Chapter 40, and Section 32 as amended. Date of posting was October 13, 2021.

Zoning Bylaws

- Article 16 Town Center District and map (new)
- Article 17 Section 6.7 "Uses Permitted by Special Permit" and Section 20 "Definitions"
- Article 18 Section 29 "Community Housing"
- Article 19 Section 2 update zoning map "B-2 Service Business District"
- Article 20 Section 2 update zoning map "Section 32 "Solar Overlay District"

The Attorney General disapproved Article 21 "Growth Limitation Bylaw"

Article 21 - We disapprove and delete the extension of the Town's Growth Rate Limitation by-law adopted under Article 21 because we conclude that the growth rate limitation length of time is not temporary and does not continue to have a discernible legitimate zoning purpose. The Town has not shown that it is actively engaging in the planning process that served as the basis for the original Growth Rate Limitation. We explain our decision further below.

I. SUMMARY OF BY-LAW AND THE TOWN'S PRIOR REGULATION OF GROWTH RATE LIMITATION

As brief background, at the May 14, 2001 Annual Town Meeting the Town adopted Section 11.8, "Growth Rate Limitation," to control the rate of residential development in the Town by limiting the number of building permits for new dwelling units to forty-eight in a two-year period beginning on the effective date of the by-law. We approved that by-law on August 30, 2001 (Case # 1682). Under Article 7 of the March 7, 2006 Annual Town Meeting the Town voted to extend the Growth Rate Limitation by-law to May 9, 2011. We approved Article 7 on June 14, 2006 (Case # 3761). Then under Article 34 of the May 9, 2011 Annual Town Meeting the Town voted to extend the by-law's provisions until May 9, 2021.

1 We approved Article 34 on June 22, 2011 (Case # 6017).

Now, under Article 21 at the May 15, 2021 Annual Town Meeting, the Town voted to extend the Growth Rate Limitation by-law until May 12, 2031 as follows (deletion in strike-through and new text in bold):

11.8. Growth Rate Limitation. The rate of development in Dunstable should not exceed the ability of the Town to provide necessary schools, roads, police, fire protection, water and other municipal services. The purpose of controlling the rate of residential development is to ensure that Dunstable is able to provide the necessary municipal infrastructure and services needed to protect and promote public health, safety and welfare while maintaining a steady growth and avoiding wide variations in the rate of development.

11.8.1 Applicability. The rate of development established hereunder shall apply to the issuance of all building permits for construction of new dwelling units on lots created after May 14, 2001. This Subsection 11.8. of the Zoning Bylaw shall lapse at midnight on Monday, May 10, 2021, Monday May 12, 2031 unless the Town shall sooner vote to extend its provisions at a Special or Annual Town meeting following notice and hearing duly carried out according to Chapter 40A of the General Laws, as amended. In the event of any such vote, the Planning Board shall report to any such Town Meeting regarding the effectiveness of the Growth Rate Limitation provisions of this bylaw and regarding the need, if any, to continue and/or amend such provisions. Section 11.8.2 (a) that of the existing by-law limits the number of building permits issued for new dwelling units to no more than 48 in any two-year period. The existing by-law also provides exemptions from the growth rate limitation, including exempting dwelling units that are created under programs designed to promote the construction of low to moderate income housing. See Section 11.8.3, "Exemptions."

NOTICE IS GIVEN THAT CLAIMS OF INVALIDITY BY REASON OF ANY DEFECT IN THE PROCEDURE OF THE ADOPTION OF THE ZONING AMENDMENTS MAY ONLY BE MADE WITHIN NINETY (90) DAYS OF THIS POSTING.

A copy of these amendments and bylaws may be examined or obtained at the Office of the Town Clerk during regular business hours at the Dunstable Town Hall. The effective date of the adoption or amendment of any Zoning ordinance or bylaw shall be the date on which such adoption or amendment was voted upon by a town meeting once the posting has been satisfied. General bylaws become effective when the posting has been satisfied, not the date of Town Meeting.

Town Clerk Office Hours – Monday, Tuesday and Thursdays from 9:00 am – 1:00 pm and working remote one day, usually Wednesday, depending on what deadlines, etc., I'm working with particular week. It's best to call ahead. Carol A. Skerrett, Town Clerk CMMC 978-649-4514 x222 CSkerrett@dunstable-ma.gov

FALL HUNTING SEASONS

As the air cools, the leaves change, and hopefully the rain stops more people take to fields and forests surrounding Dunstable to enjoy the resources that we have. That includes those participating in the sport of hunting.

The first of the fall hunting seasons opened on Sept. 1st, many other seasons open in the following weeks.

While Dunstable has a firearms discharge ordinance that requires the permission of the land owner, or the board of Selectmen for public property, this ordinance does not apply to the various Wildlife Management Areas in town that are owned by the Commonwealth.

For a complete list of Conversation Areas and Wildlife Management Areas see the LandsViewer from Mass Wildlife: <https://www.mass.gov/how-to/masswildlife-lands-viewer>

Hunting seasons and dates are covered in two separate locations. Waterfowl and Migratory birds are covered by the Migratory Bird Regulations (<https://www.mass.gov/info-details/migratory-game-bird-hunting-regulations>) while other game are located in the Massachusetts Hunting & Fishing Guide (<https://www.mass.gov/doc/2021-massachusetts-fishing-and-hunting-guide/download>).

Matt's Monthly Mechanical Memo

By Matt Manning

No one wants to start the year with boiler troubles. How do you know whether to repair or replace? Let's look at some of the factors to consider in making a decision.

Age: On average, boilers have a service life between 10 and 15 years. Older boilers are more prone to problems such as leaks and malfunctions, as well as increased energy use.

Safety: For any decision regarding an existing system, safety needs to be top priority. Repairs may be an option, but may not improve the safety of the boiler.

Repair Needs & Costs: If the cost of repairing is relatively low, or the repair is simple, then this may be the best choice.

Efficiency & Energy Costs: Wear & tear over the years reduces efficiency & performance. New, high-efficiency units use much less fuel.

Taking these factors into account, If an old boiler breaks down often, energy bills are higher, and your home doesn't feel as warm as it should, it might be time to consider boiler replacement.

Until next month, stay comfortable! Matt

CHEMICAL RESTRAINTS IN NURSING HOMES

By Edward H. Adamsky, Attorney at Law

Every resident of a nursing home is entitled to appropriate physical and medical care. Each person should be treated as an individual and given only the care that meets their needs. But in the real world, some nursing homes are understaffed and overcrowded, and cannot keep up with the needs of the residents. This leads to the overuse of antipsychotic drugs, not to treat a medical diagnosis such as Schizophrenia or Bipolar Disorder, but to control behavior (often called "chemical restraints" as physical restraints have been outlawed for many years). The use of drugs helps to "calm" the residents allows the staff to handle them more easily. This isn't the proper use of medication and violates the rights of the residents. Many antipsychotic drugs are contraindicated for elders with dementia and can lead to an increased risk of death.

Sometimes those with dementia are unable to find the words to express themselves and so act out their needs. A person might moan to show pain, or shout to show anger or frustration. These actions should not be dismissed as meaningless and should be evaluated and dealt with appropriately. Actions such as distress, agitation, screaming, hitting, confusion, fear, crying or anger may all indicate that the person needs care, not shutting up.

Sometimes medical conditions or other medications might show up as adverse behavior. The behavior needs to be reviewed and the cause determined so the person can get the right treatment. But in many cases, the choice is to just give drugs that will calm the patient down and stifle the behavior rather than finding the cure to the actual problem. This is not an appropriate treatment of the resident.

You can try to determine if your loved-one is a victim of over-medication by looking for the following symptoms (among others): Difficulty waking to eat or to speak; disordered thinking, hallucinations, depression, or delusions; dry mouth, decreased appetite; repetitive, and involuntary movements of the head, tongue, fingers, and toes.

You should review your loved-one's medication list and ask why any particular medicine was ordered and what symptoms or behavior prompted it. Ask if the medication is specifically directed to the symptom or cause of the illness and if there are other non-drug options. Ask what might have been done to treat the symptom before trying the medication in question. Ask for the plan of use and ending the use.

Some of the common antipsychotic medications are (brand name/generic name): Risperdal/Risperidone; Zyprexa/Olanzapine; Seroquel/Quetiapine Fumarate; Abilify/Aripiprazole; Haldol/Haloperidol; Clozaril/Clozapine; Depakote/Divalproex; Ativan/Lorazepam; Paxil/Paroxetine. Many come with a "black box" warning that says they should not be given to patients with dementia.

If you suspect your loved-one in a nursing home has been given drugs for an inappropriate reason you should speak with the medical director of the facility and consider contacting the state ombudsman for nursing homes. In Massachusetts call (617) 727-7750.

THE MERCY OF GOD'S CORRECTION

By Nathan Combs

It is often uncomfortable to receive reproof, especially in our American culture which focuses so much on the autonomy of the individual. For a variety of reasons, it is easy for us to view correction as inherently unkind, unnecessary, and oppressive. How can the Scriptures unashamedly declare that God disciplines the hearts of those who submit to his lordship? Why should we submit to the Lord's correction? Hebrews 12:7-11 reveals three main ideas.

First, God's discipline demonstrates his love. Perhaps this seems counter-intuitive at first. Surely love means allowing people to exercise their free will, not interfering with their choices. However, the Hebrew Christians are told in verse 7: "God is treating you as sons. For what son is there whom his father does not discipline?" As a father of a young toddler, I would not show love to my son if I allowed him to naively choose playing in a busy road rather than in the safety of our yard. Therefore, out of concern for his wellbeing, I must prevent him from carrying out his choice and teach him a better way, despite his momentary disappointment. In the same way, God does not allow me to continue in character traits or beliefs that are harmful to me and to the lives of others.

Secondly, God always disciplines perfectly. Verses 9 and 10 tells us: "Besides this, we have had earthly fathers who disciplined us and we respected them. Shall we not much more be subject to the Father of spirits and live? For they disciplined us for a short time as it seemed best to them, but he disciplines us for our good." Although it's a no-brainer for me to gently teach my son not to play in the road, there are a myriad of other parenting decisions that are not as straight-forward! Despite good intentions, I have certainly made many parenting mistakes, as my father also made with me. But fortunately for us, the training which the heavenly Father provides is always the best possible discipline. He never temporarily loses his temper, abuses his authority, or forgets his perspective on what we need. He is always moving us towards the goal of "sharing his holiness" (vs. 10).

Third, the end result of God's discipline is beautiful. Verse 11: "For the moment all discipline seems painful rather than pleasant, but later it yields the peaceful fruit of righteousness to those who have been trained by it." Perhaps you can still remember painful moments as a child when your disrespect or disobedience was addressed. Now, I regard the imperfect efforts of my parents as a mercy. I'm now thankful for the training, the chores, the schooling, and the many long conversations that shifted my perspective in needed ways. Likewise, the discipline of God is a mercy in far greater ways than we have the capacity to understand. Let's rejoice in it.

SHERBURNE NATURE CENTER & TRAILS

For more information on this and future events, please visit the website <http://www.naturewalkscs.org/events-schedule>

Sherburne Nature Center trails are open daily, dawn to dusk, for the residents of Tyngsboro and neighboring towns. Traverse several woodland streams, go bird-watching, try to catch a glimpse of a beaver, observe the birds and notice what has changed since fall has come. It's a great place for outdoor exercise and to enjoy nature close to home. Children under 16 must be accompanied by an adult.

Please note: The tennis court behind the Sherburne Nature Center is not part of the PUBLIC Nature Center property.

5 HOME FEATURES BUYERS ARE LOOKING FOR

Sponsored by Carrie Best Cyr

The housing market typically slows down in the fall, so if you're thinking of selling in the near future, it may take a little more effort to stand out from the crowd.

Knowing what buyers want and making a few smart updates can help make your home more marketable and improve your selling price. Are you considering a home sale soon? Here's what potential buyers might be looking for this fall:

- Safety Features You might consider upgrading your garage door, adding an alarm system or repairing your fence. Anything that improves the safety and security of your home is an automatic value-add.
- Energy-Efficient Enhancements Making your home more energy-efficient has a two-fold benefit: It helps the environment and cuts down on utility bills. Most buyers are happy to pay extra for both.
- Plenty of Storage Storage space is always worth a premium. If you can, find ways to add additional storage to your property before listing it, maybe with a set of garage shelves, a closet system or a more streamlined pantry.
- Functional Fun Can you make your home more enjoyable? This might mean adding an outdoor kitchen, building a theater room or installing a small fire pit in the backyard. As we've learned over the last several months, outdoor areas are practically essential.
- Health-Forward Add-Ons Homes equipped with no-touch faucets, mudrooms, air filtration systems and other health and comfort-focused items are sure to align with modern buyers' needs. Of course, it's always important to keep up with your home's general maintenance and perform any major repairs that may be necessary as well.

Catie's Closet

Our students' futures are at stake. The fact is simple. Students NEED help, and they need it NOW.

We need your help brightening the futures of more children across the country. Let them adjust their appearance to connect with who they are on the inside. You can help. Give Dollars. Your donations directly help students get the resources they need to succeed in school. We can't change students' homes, take away their past traumas, diminish their fear about the pandemic or replant their family trees, but we can do what we've done for the past 10 years and meet their most basic and immediate physical needs to help them feel good about themselves and re-engage in their classrooms. Through love, support, trusting relationships and consistent access to clothing and toiletries, Catie's Closet lays the foundation for students' big dreams. Consider increasing your impact with your company's employee giving and matching program.

Give Clothes. A fresh set of clothes, a clean pair of socks or a new pair of shoes can make a world of difference to a student in need. Catie's Closet accepts new and gently used clothing, undergarments and outerwear. Give Toiletries. A new toothbrush, a bottle of shampoo or a bar of soap can give kids living in poverty the fresh start they need for a great day. Catie's Closet accepts new full-size toiletries and feminine products. Give Time. You can volunteer your time helping us sort and process clothing at our Distribution Center in Dracut, MA

We are coming into the most challenging time of year for our students. The need for warmer clothes is expected to be at an all-time high, winter school breaks mean children and teens will be without access to our closets, and we're preparing for the demands of next year. In this moment, every community has a family struggling to meet their children's most basic and essential needs.

As the cold weather and long winter months quickly approach us, we need your help to ensure kids in our local area have everything they need to stay warm, safe, and comfortable so they can attend school confidently.

For more details on clothing and toiletries that are accepted, and to sign up to donate your time, or make a monetary donation, please visit the website www.catiescloset.org

Or make an impact from wherever you are with the new Catie's Closet app. Now available on iOS and Android devices. Make monetary donations to show your financial support. Request a prepaid shipping label to donate gently used items. Shop our Amazon Wish Lists to purchase new items. The Catie's Closet app makes it easy to support local kids in need anytime, anywhere. ABOUT INDIAN HILL MUSIC

Now in its 36th year, Indian Hill Music - a nonprofit music education and performance center in Littleton MA - is one of only a few organizations of its kind in the U.S. that combines a community music school, diverse professional concert series, and high-impact music philanthropy. Serving some 79 communities in MA and Southern NH, the organization's mission - to share the transformative power of music, through teaching and performing, and giving music generously when there is need - reflects the impact of music on people's lives and its ability to strengthen, heal, and inspire. As a nonprofit organization, Indian Hill Music relies on the generosity of individuals, families, businesses, and foundations to support our programs. In September, Indian Hill Music announced that it will be known as Groton Hill Music Center with the fall 2022 opening of its stunning new home for music, currently under construction in Groton, MA. Designed by award-winning Epstein Joslin Architects of Cambridge, MA, the new center is an architecturally exquisite 126,000-square-foot music education and performance venue. It houses a 1,000-seat concert hall with lawn seating for seasonal concerts, a 300-seat performance hall, multi-scaled rehearsal and teaching spaces, state-of-the-art acoustics designed by Threshold Acoustics of Chicago, and dynamic architecture. Additionally, two-thirds of the land on which the facility sits - formerly an apple orchard and a horse farm - is preserved as picturesque agricultural fields. When it opens next fall, Groton Hill Music Center will be a regional gathering place for music education and performance of all genres for Central Massachusetts and well beyond.

The programs of Indian Hill Music are supported in part by a grant from the Massachusetts Cultural Council, a state agency, and with funds from the council administered by the Local Cultural Councils. Learn more at www.indianhillmusic.org.
